The Great Flood

ENORMOUS DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.

RAILROADS WASHED UP AND RAILROAD BRIDGES SWEPT AWAY.

(PRESS TELEGRAMS.)

THE FLOOD AT HARPERS FERRY.

HARPERS FERRY, Nov. 26.—Both rivers are 26 feet above low water mark, three feet higher than in 1870. All property on Shenandoah street has been removed. Water said to be at a stand.

BRIDGE GONE AT CHAMBERSBURG.

CHAMBERSBURG, PA., Nov. 26.—There was a destructive flood at this place last night, the Conococheague creek rising 15 feet above ordinary level and doing damage to the extent of $30,000. During the night the bridge over Potomac river, near Williamsport, Md., was swept away. Six heavily laden coal cars were on the bridge at the time and went down with it. Loss $30,000.

HIGH WATER AT GREAT FALLS.

GREAT FALLS, MD., Nov. 26.—The river is 19 feet above low water mark and rising.

THE POTOMAC BOOMING.

GEORGETOWN, D. C., Nov. 26.—The river is rising and the water is 5 feet above wharf level.

THE EFFECTS OF THE FLOOD IN VIRGINIA—THE IRON BRIDGE AT RICHMOND GONE—GREAT DAMAGE.

RICHMOND, November 26.—A Danville dispatch says the Dan River has risen to nearly the highest point ever known here. The damage in and about the city is more than $100,000. Everything bordering on the Dan, Big and Little Sandy Rivers is swept away. The Virginia Midland Railroad sustained much damage at this point. The iron bridge over Staunton River on that road is gone; three other minor bridges on the same road are swept away. The road bed is washed away in many places.

Danville to-night will be in darkness, as the gas works are submerged. A number of houses have been swept away. The destructiveness of the freshet is incalculable. The river is still rising.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, November 26.—All the streams in the neighborhood are greatly swollen and adjacent farms are suffering. The Rivanna River is as high as it was in 1870, but is now falling. A portion of the iron bridge is gone, and the balance is seriously damaged. The telegraph lines are down. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad is badly washed and all trains stopped The damage cannot be estimated, but will be very great in this vicinity.

RICHMOND, November 26—Midnight.—The excitement in the lower part of this city is most intense. People residing, and merchants doing business below the St. Charles Hotel, on Main street, the point reached by the water during the great flood of 1870, are moving goods from the stores and other places of business. The streets alive with vehicles of every kind and people are engaged in the work of removal, the water from the region of Lynchburg is showing effect on the river which is now rising at the rate of eighteen inches to two feet per hour If this continues till morning which is now probable the water will be higher than the flood of '70. The extreme lower portion of the city reached 17th street and is in a few feet of the first market on Main street. A dispatch from Lynchburg dated 10 P. M. says, the river at this point is as high as 1870 and still rising steadily. The bridges are all gone and the damage to all sorts of property is immense. The James river and Kanawha canal between Lynchburg and Richmond will probably sustain the most serious damage by the overflow of the river and the consequent breaking of its banks. The flood of 1870 caused a loss to the canal company of several hundred thousand dollars and the suspension of traffic for months and this disaster is likely to be repeated.

THE POTOMAC FALLING—WHISKEY AND FLOUR FLOATING DOWN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—The Potomac is falling and running at the rate of 25 miles an hour, bearing from above bridges, shanties, barrels, &c., swept away by floods. The loss of property along the river front is very extensive. Barrels of whiskey and flour were recovered by men and boys in boats. Tugs and other vessels parted cables and drifted with the current. Communication between Washington and Alexandria by railroad and boat is suspended.

It is reported that south of Alexandria there are heavy washes on railroads and the draw of Long Bridge is out of order. The causeway from South End almost to Fort Runyon is submerged. The filling of the railroad is washed out and the turnpike is submerged with water to a depth of several feet.

BREAK ON LONG BRANCH RAILROAD.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 26.—A construction train on the Long Branch Railroad, looking for wash outs Sunday found one near South Amboy, and was thrown from the track, killing three men and injuring four.

THE BRIDGES AT WELDON.

RICHMOND, Nov. 26.—The Petersburg and Weldon Railroad bridge at Weldon, N. C. is gone, also three spans of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad bridge at the same place. The Roanoke river is very high, the water has risen three feet since 7 this A. M. and it is expected the last named bridge will be entirely swept away; travel is interrupted.

Vessel Hove to off Hatteras

NEW YORK, November 26.—The steamer "City of Vera Cruz," from Vera Cruz, which arrived here yesterday, reports that on November 24th, 10 a. m., 65 miles south of Hatteras, passed an American man-of-war, bark-rigged, hove to.

Mexican Affairs---Movement of Mexican Troops.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—A special from Matamoras, Mexico, of yesterday's date says the troops which left the City of Mexico a few days ago under command of General Trevina, for the Rio Grande, are not to repel United States troops but to co-operate with the U. S. authorities in maintaining peace between the two countries. In consequence of the presence of General Escobedo on the Texas frontier, with all his staff officers, evidently to inaugurate a revolution in favor of ex-President Lerda, about 700 regular troops have embarked at Vera Cruz for the mouth of the Rio Grande, to be used in repelling Escobedo's forces should he attempt to cross into Mexico.

WASHINGTON.

Report on the Kellogg-Spofford Case--Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—SENATE.—Wadleigh, from the committee on privileges and elections submitted a report accompanied by a resolution declaring W. P. Kellogg entitled to a seat as Senator from Louisiana, six years from March 4th, 1877. He asked present consideration of the resolution but objection was made by Merrimon. Withers and others and the resolution was laid over until to-morrow. Merrimon submitted a minority report signed by Hill, Saulsbury and himself in favor of seating Spofford. Ordered printed.

HOUSE.—The bill to repeal all that part of the act of January 14th, 1875, known as the re-sumption act which authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to dispose of U. S. bonds and redeem and cancel greenback currency, was read by title and referred to the committee on finance. The latter portion of the morning hour was devoted to discussing the resolution submitted by Chaffee, calling upon the President for information as to what impediments exist which prevent him from executing laws against the Union Pacific and its ranches but before reaching the vote the morning hour expired and consideration was resumed of the resolution to discharge the committee on privileges and elections from further consideration of the credeutials of M. C. Butler claiming his seat as Senator from South Carolina, and Davis, of Illinois explained reasons why he favored the motion to discharge the committee. Davis said it was important for the vacant seats from South Carolina and Louisiana to be filled. The legislation of Congress was binding upon the people of those States and they had a right to expect that claims for these seats should be acted upon at the earliest possible moment. Had the committee on privileges and elections reported in favor of seating Kellogg before the Senator from Ohio, Thurman submitted his resolution to discharge the committee from the Butler case, he would have voted to consider the Kellogg case first but thought the resolution of Thurman having been submitted first was entitled to precedence. Edmunds, after a brief reply, moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business, rejected, yeas 28 nays 30. Conover and Patterson voted with the democrats in the negative.

The Senate committee on post offices and post roads agreed to report favorably on the nomination of Wyckersham to be post master at Mobile. Senator Spencer has been opposed to the nomination.

WRECK OF THE HURON.

Vessels to the Rescue--One Hundred and Fourteen Lives Lost --Only Thirty Saved--An Unknown Vessel Sunk.

FORTRESS MONROE, November 26.—Admiral Trenchard, in the U. S. steamer "Powhatan," with the other vessels he had despatched to the wreck of the U. S. steamer "Huron," arrived off Kitty Hawk at daylight Sunday.

The "Fortune" went down to Body Island, skirting the beach, looking for the wreck. Capt. Stoddard, in the "Baker," followed the beach down and found the wreck about 9 a. m. The sea was running very high, and there was not a possibility of landing. The signal officers were sent to the "Baker," and in this way communication was had with the shore, and we learned that 114 were drowned and but 30 were saved, of whom four were officers. Admiral Trenchard then ordered the "Swatara" to remain and bury the dead when a landing could be made with safety. Capt. Stoddard remained to wreck the vessel. The "Powhatan" left for Hampton Roads at 1 p. m., and anchored at midnight. She passed a large vessel sunk, her two lower masts about eight feet out of water, and her top-masts gone.

The signal service observer at the wreck of the "Huron" reports at 1:40 p. m. as follows: "No more bodies have been recovered. The tide is running strong northward, and it is probable that a number will come ashore. The sea is too high to get a boat to the wreck. The body of a colored man, from the 'Baker's' boat, was washed up during the night.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

The Sultan Talks About Peace --Russian Newspapers for Peace---Probability of a Settlement.

LONDON, November 26.—A special from Constantinople says the Sultan has expressed his intention to treat separately with the Czar. He abandons all idea of applying to any foreign power for mediation.

A special from St. Petersburg says the Russian newspapers profess a strong desire for peace. There is much talk of a direct negotiation with the Porte, and the probability of such settlement is said to grow stronger daily. Russia is reported to be making special exertions to secure, at any rate, England's exclusion from negotiations. Nobody here gives much heed now to talk of peace.

A Russian official dispatch announces that the Russians, on Saturday, captured the fortified town of Estropol with a trifling loss. The Turks fled in disorder.

French Affairs.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—The Soliel says a fresh dissolution, if voted by the Senate, would complicate instead of solving the crisis. The Republic Francaise demands the withdrawal of the new Cabinet and renews its argument in favor of a congress of two houses to definitely settle upon the cont utional question. Several conservative papers say that the Government will call upon the Senate to declare openly for or against it.

Sunday's Washington Dispatch.

"Dispatches from various parts of Virginia represent the flood as worse than in 1870. The trains on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are detained this morning on account of the flood in the Potomac. The track at St. John's Run is submerged."

LATEST FROM THE ROANOKE.

IMMENSE LOSSES AND APPALLING SCENES.

Destruction of Bridges--Damage to Farmers--Houses on the Waters---The Railroads.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE NEWS.]

WELDON, November 26.—9:15 P. M.—The special train with Superintendent Winder reached Gaston at noon. The track for one mile is under water, at some points three feet deep. The Roanoke is six feet higher than ever known before. At an early hour boles of cotton and roofs of buildings were seen floating down. Several families are living in third stories, garrets, &c., boats being used to connect with the shore. Planters along the river lose heavily. R. E. Mosely loses his barn, with 700 barrels of corn, cotton, &c.

At 2 p. m. the mail train arrived at Gaston. The passengers and mail were transferred through the woods on foot one and a half miles to the train from Weldon.

We reached Weldon at 3:30 p. m., where we see an immense sheet of water. The town is entirely surrounded by the river, which is eight feet above the highest water mark.

The bridge of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad gave away early this morning. Loss $100,000. The splendid iron bridge of the Petersburg and Weldon Railroad was destroyed at 1:30 p. m. to-day. Loss $50,000. The track of the Petersburg and Weldon Railroad is submerged for three miles.

Up to this time no lives have been lost. Several families barely escaped. The damages to the planters along the Roanoke from Gaston to Plymouth cannot be estimated. It is certainly not less than one million dollars. N. M. Long loses buildings, five thousand barrels of corn, several hundred stacks of fodder, cotton crop, implements, seventy-five cattle, a number of sheep, hogs, etc.; estimated value thirty thousand dollars. Emery's model farm is a model lake.

Trains from Portsmouth came to Garysburg to-day. No trains from Petersburg. The trains from Wilmington arrived on time. No damage along that line. The A. & N. C. R. R. is reported in good order. Trains will run through on the R. & G. Road to-morrow. Connections with points north will be delayed temporarily. Arrangements are being made to take passengers and the mails with despatch from Weldon.

The river is falling rapidly at Gaston; slowly here. Maj. Winder reports no damage on the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line. The county road bridge over Chockayotte Creek, at Bass' Mill, one mile above Weldon, is lifted from its place and is floating about among the trees, which latter prevents it from being carried entirely away. The mill house seems not to have moved, though the water is nearly to the eaves.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE FLOOD.

Ravages of the Waters at Various Points.

[Special by Telegrams to the News.]

THE S. & R. BRIDGE AT WELDON.

A dispatch to Maj. Winder from Weldon, received here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning says, the bridge of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad at Weldon was washed off yesterday morning at 7.25 o'clock, and that the track of the Petersburg and Weldon Road, south of the river and between Weldon and the bridge of that road, was washed away for a mile, rendering the passage of trains impossible.

VIRGINIA BRIDGES GONE—HEAVY LOSS OF COTTON.

News was also received here that the Richmond & Danville Railroad bridge over Staunton river went about 1 o'clock Sunday morning carrying off 9 car loads of cotton that were placed on the bridge to hold it down.

Mayo's bridge over the James at Richmond was carried away Sunday night at 9 o'clock.

Three bridges on the Virginia Midland Road, between Danville and Lynchburg, have been washed away, also one railroad bridge and one foot bridge at Lynchburg.

THE ROANOKE ON THE RAMPAGE.

WELDON, N. C., Nov. 23, 11 A. M.—The Roanoke is higher than ever known before. The Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad bridge was carried away at 7.25 o'clock this morning. The track of the Petersburg Railroad is all under water from here to the bridge. The top of the bridge can be seen from here but we cannot tell what its condition is. It is impossible to estimate now the extent of the damage on this river. The water is three or four feet higher than the great freshet of 1873. The larger portion of the Seaboard bridge was lodged upon the islands below, and it is hoped that not enough of it will reach the iron bridge of the Petersburg road to carry it away.

It is doubtful whether the train from here to Raleigh can pass Gaston. The agent has gone up to see about it. C.

DESTRUCTION OF CROPS ON THE NEUSE.

WAKE FOREST, N. C. Nov. 26.

The destruction to the crops on the Neuse are heavy. Several thousand barrels of corn and large quantities of cotton and fodder are under water. Will send a full report from Gaston and Weldon. F.

P. & W. R. R. BRIDGE AT WELDON.

WELDON, N. C., Nov. 27.

When I telegraphed this morning the top of the Petersburg bridge was visible from here; we have not seen it since and don't know whether it is submerged or carried away. So tremendous is the rush of water that the approach to the bridge is both dificult and dangerous. C.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 26.

Big flood in the Cape Fear river. A rise of seventy-five feet; within about four feet of the Sherman freshet of 1865. Some loss to crops in low grounds; considerable loss of stock in Bladen and other counties.

HOMICIDE IN ASHEVILLE.

J. D. Barnwell Stabs Anderson Garren to Death.

(Special dispatch to the News.)

ASHEVILLE, November 26.—On Saturday night J. D. Barnwell reached Asheville from Henderson county, coming here to live, accompanied by his former wife's sister, with whom he now cohabits. Anderson Garren, Barnwell's brother-in-law, brought the party over in his wagon, all arriving here late last night. Garren wished to unload that night, but Barnwell objected. Words and blows followed quickly and as quickly the knife of Barnwell did the work for Garren. Barnwell is in jail. He was tried before for killing his wife. F.

DROWNED.

Two Young Men Find Watery Graves at Lincolnton.

[From the Charlotte Observer, 24th.]

Following close upon the heels of the appalling railroad disasters of Friday, comes the intelligence of an occurrence near Lincolnton, Friday night, which is hardly less distressing in its character. Messrs. Michael Hoke, Jacob Sumner and Harrison Grice, young men of the town, were crossing Clarke's creek, which is just on the outskirts, and which runs between the town and Phifer's factory, the waters being very high, when the boat which they occupied suddenly capsized. Young Grice sank beneath the waters and was seen no more. Messrs. Hoke and Sumner managed to climb one upon each end of the capsized craft, and in this way were floated rapidly down stream. From the point where the young men essayed to cross the creek to the mouth of the same, where it empties into the river, (the south fork of the Catawba,) the distance is greater than a half mile, and realizing that they would soon be driven into the full current of the larger stream, they agreed to catch upon the branches of the first tree to which they were borne. Accordingly, when they had been carried a quarter of a mile down the river, in the direction of the opposite bank, and were borne against a tree, they abandoned their frail bark and swung to the limbs, while the boat, relieved of its weight, shot from under them like an arrow.

Mr. Hoke lodged high up among the branches, Mr. Sumner below him, and in this perilous situation they hung suspended by the arms, calling tor help which did not come, and talking with each other about their peril and the probabilities of escape from their frightful surroundings. At the end of an hour Mr. Sumner said to his companion that he could hold out no longer; that he was growing weaker and weaker and would have to release his hold upon the limb. "Take care of yourself," were the last words he uttered, and than he sank and the waves closed over his already almost lifeless form. His companion did not see him when he disappeared, for the night was dark, but their conversation was suspended and he knew that he was gone.

Throughout the long watches of that awful night, from 9 o'clock until 7 yesterday morning, Mr. Hoke clung to the branches of the tree, the water rising nearly to his arm-pits and his whole frame benumbed with cold. Shortly after daylight his cries attracted persons to the bank, and, finally, after long hours of fearful waiting, he was rescued and brought to shore alive and well.

News of the drowning of Messrs. Grice and Sumner soon reached the town, and during yesterday the river banks were searched as far down the stream as High Shoals, eight miles below, but up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon no trace of either body could be found.

THE RAILROAD WRECKS.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNTS OF THE TERRIBLE DISASTERS--WHAT WAS SEEN AND HEARD.

The Killed and the Wounded.

[Charlotte Observer.]

Further news from the terrible catastrophes reported in the Observer yesterday morning, was awaited yesterday with breathless anxiety, and every effort was made to gather information from the scene of the disaster. Finally about 10 o'clock it was announced from Rock Hill that the train which left here yesterday morning at 12:15 would return about 12 o'clock with the killed and wounded. On its arrival hundreds of anxious people collected around it to gather what tidings they could of their friends and relatives. About ten of the passengers of the ill-fated train arrived, together with the citizens of Charlotte, who had, on the night before, gone to the scene of the wreck, and the body of James F. McLaughlin. Most of those who had been hurt had sufficiently recovered to be able to walk, and although all had apparently suffered much from exposure no one seemed to be seriously injured.

Under the excitement which followed such a terrible and fatal accident, with the marvelously narrow escapes of each individual, it has been with the greatest difficulty that the whole story could be collected, and even yet many tragic occurrences have doubtless not been related. So sudden and awful was the accident that scarcely any of the passengers are able to tell anything beyond the story of their own adventures and rescue. Many of these are thrilling beyond description, but as it will be impossible to give them in full we must confine ourselves to a general account of the catastrophe, as collected from all sources.

The train with about twenty passengers—all males—arrived at South Fork creek coming towards Charlotte, at 4:12 p. m. Captain William Kline was conductor and William Fetner, engineer. There were only three cars, the baggage and express, the first-class passenger and second-class passenger. There were only five persons in the first-class coach which was behind, the remainder being in the second class car.

The engineer approached the trestle somewhat cautiously, but seeing two negroes and a white man on the opposite side of the trestle having apparently just crossed it he proceeded at the rate of about ten miles an hour. The trestle is about fifteen feet above the creek bank, and about two hundred feet long. The water had risen to within about six feet of the top.

Just as the hindmost car cleared the bank and was directly over the channel of the creek, and before the engine had reached the opposite bank—at the moment when the entire train was directly above the seething and roaring waters, the first intimation of the approaching disaster was given. The engineer felt a sudden jar, and, quick as thought, jerked open the throttle. With this the engine bounded forward, broke the stant had cleared the trestle.

The passengers felt a sudden jar, and then came the terrible realization that they were gradually sinking. Another instant and the water had burst through the windows upon them, and for a moment hides from sight the struggle

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

There was little or no crash, and the first sound which greeted the ears was that of the screams of the passengers. Instinctively every man leaped for the windows, and one by one they began to appear upon the tops of the cars. The upper side of the track had given away first and hence the cars began to turn over. The iron being fastened together by "fish bars," the track still clung together, even after the timbers had been torn from beneath it. Hence the gradual sinking. Finally the upper rail gave way entirely, and the three cars were soon almost completely submerged, sinking down among the tossing and breaking timbers. At this moment the scene was represented as baffling description. Many of the passengers were struggling to escape through the windows; others had already left the car and were being carried rapidly down the stream, sinking for one moment beneath the water, and the next rising to be violently struck by the timbers; others still clinging to bushes and endeavoring to lift themselves above the water. A few had climbed upon the floating timbers, and two or three had lodged in branches of trees.

WONDERFUL ESCAPES.

Messrs. R. Y. McAden and John L. Morehead emerged from the windows of the middle car almost simultaneously. As they were endeavoring to free themselves from it, the car was washed against the track which was still being held together by the fish-bar iron. They were gradually being crushed between the iron and the car, when suddenly the iron broke and they drifted down stream until they caught in trees.

Conductor Kline stood on the top of the last coach until it sank, and then plunged into the water and was found a half mile below the scene of the wreck.

S. A. Woodruff escaped from the rear car before it left the track, and got to land by climbing up the iron until he came to the part of the trestle which had not given way.

The front of the express car lodged within fifteen feet of the bank and was only partly submerged, and the messenger, George Bateman, had no difficulty in getting out on top of his car and thence to the bank.

William Horah, baggage master, and William Ozment, news agent, were on the platform of the middle car and leaped off as soon as the car began to sink. The former swam to the bank and the latter lodged in a tree near the wreck.

These few accounts of the manner in which some of the escapes were made, give some idea of the scene.

THE RESCUES.

In fifteen minutes after the occurrence, the news had spread for several miles over the country, and people began to flock to the bank and endeavor to rescue the unfortunate passengers. Mr. Joe Burdell, formerly an engineer on the railroad, happened to be near the scene of the accident, and directed the efforts, displaying a presence of mind and courage which have scarcely ever been equalled. The engine was immediately sent to Rock Hill for assistance, and a party was made up there, headed by Dr. T. C. Robertson, who came to the scene as fast as steam could bring them. Before their arrival the people in the neighborhood on both sides of the stream had rescued several of the parties who were nearest the banks.

By this time it had begun to grow quite dark, and the only guide to the efforts of those who were endeavoing to rescue their unfortunate fellow beings, were the cries for help which were heard in almost all directions.

Rafts were constructed, and brave men embarked on them in the hope of passing near enough to some of the men to take them from their perilous positions in trees, clinging to bushes and floating about on logs. Several were gotten out by this means. Ropes were thrown to others, and several were rescued by men who swam horses into the stream. The rapidity with which the water surged through the bushes and trees, and the large quantity of timber constantly being swept down the stream, rendered such methods of assistance extremely perilous, but those engaged in the work seemed to lose sight of the danger, and did not hesitate to run any risk.

Some time after dark the engine brought a boat from the Catawba river which was also the means of saving several. Finally the last man that could be heard of was rescued about 10 o'clock, having remained in the water since 4 in the afternoon.

As fast as the men were taken from the water they were carried to houses in the neighborhood, where every attention possible was given them.

THE INJURED.

Nearly all those rescued were more or less injured, but none very seriously. Mr. Steele, of Rock Hill had a leg broken; conductor Kline has a severe flesh wound in the arm; William Ozment a severe gash in the head; W. J. Orr, several severe bruises; R. Y. McAden considerably mashed and bruised in the back and sides. The others, so far as known, were only slightly bruised.

THE KILLED.

The only dead body thus far found is that of James F. McLaughlin, of Charlotte, discovered on top of the car crushed between timbers which had lodged there. He was first seen and recognized by the party from Charlotte about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. So securely was he fastened and so heavy were the timbers that it was with difficulty that the body could be rescued by the combined efforts of four or five men. His back and neck were both broken and his skull crushed.

The water in the stream was rapidly falling when our latest intelligence was received, and no news has reached us of the finding of any more bodies. Conductor Kline thinks, from an examination of his tickets, that no one is lost, but as there were several persons returning from the stockholders' meeting who did not have tickets, he is uncertain as to the exact number on the train. Fourteen of the passengers have been seen, but as there were certainly more than this on board, it is feared that several are lost. Communication with the other side of the stream is bad, and possibly several persons might have been taken to houses on that side and not been heard from.

THE AIR-LINE ACCIDENT.

So much more frightful in the aggregate and in detail was the occurrence on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, that the accident on the Air-Line, paled comparatively; and while there were many enquirers for news of this, they were neither so numerous nor so eager as those who sought intelligence of the other, for the reason stated, and from the further fact that so many of our people were on board the train which went through the trestle. The Air-Line accident, however, was no insignificant one, and though there are few particulars which we did not give yesterday, we repeat the story, with additions, since the public mind is just now in such a condition that anything bearing upon the subject is of interest. As we said yesterday, the engine was pulling three cars and running at about thirty miles an hour. The rain was pouring in torrents. Two minutes before the accident occurred, while rounding a sharp curve, Engineer Smith, leaning from his cab window, signalled to a friend in the ladies' coach, who was looking ahead, and pointing to the water which was coursing through the ditches, shook his head, as if to say

"I DO NOT LIKE IT."

But the train did not slacken its speed In a moment the crash broke in upon the buzzing of the car wheels. Passengers were jolted out of their seats, and some who turned their heads saw the massive thirty-two ton engine roll over and over like a child's plaything. The two front cars were thrown from the track; thanks to the automatic brake the hindermost car was checked in time and did not leave the rails. What injuries were inflicted upon the passengers were very slight, and they were soon outside and upon the ground. To take in the situation was the work of a moment. The engine was upright on its wheels at the foot of the embankment, not parallel with the track, but at right angles with it. It had made two revolutions in its descent. The top of the cab was crushed down, the smoke stack was gone and likewise the bell. The locomotive was covered with mud, but was standing upright upon its wheels, and was tenantless. The fireman was soon found, at a considerable distance from the track. He was standing in the tender when the crash came and he, with the wood in the tender, was hurled far from the line and escaped with painful bruises, but no serious injuries. The engineer could not be found, and search for him was at once instituted. This was for some time pursued without avail, but by and by a foot was seen protruding from the earth. It was even so. He had been literally and entirely driven into the earth, head, body, arms and legs. He was dragged out with all possible speed and carried into one of the cars. The mud was removed, as best it could be done, from his ears, eyes, nose and mouth; the blood spurted from his ears, he gasped three times and died. The track was torn to pieces for a distance of fifty yards or more. The remains of the engineer were sent to Atlanta by the first train, and the passengers were brought back to Charlotte yesterday morning, by a train which went out for that purpose late Friday night.

Trains on these two roads are running from terminal points to the wrecks and transferring passengers and mail.

A hundred lashes is a forfeiture which can be taken with more precision than Shylock's pound of flesh. A negro living near Warrenton, Ga., recently asked a white neighbor to lend some money. The capitalist declined, on the ground that there was no chance of his getting it back. The applicant voluntarily offered to pay the penalty of a hundred lashes if he failed to meet his obligation at the appointed time. The money was not repaid, and on Monday last the creditor proceeded to take the debt out of the negro's hide. When he had got fifty dollars' worth, White told Black that he could go on the farm and work out the remainder, but the latter insisted that the debt should be cancelled with the lash, according to the bond, and it was done.

R. C. Ould, of Buckingham county, Va., has been sentenced to one year in jail and to pay a fine of $500 for shooting, with intent to kill, a young man related to him.

The Infirmities of Age

Are harder to bear than the ailments of middle life or youth, since the resistant power in the system has diminished with declining years, and disease and pain have more power over the enfeebled body. It is therefore the more essential that the resistant power should be augmented. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a benign tonic cordial, is admirably adapted for the purpose. It counteracts the infirmities peculiar to age, and succors worn out nature. It vivifies the feeble frame, adds new oil, as it were, to the flickering lamp of life, diffuses fresh warmth through the chilled veins, and gives comfort as well as relief, thus lightening the burden of age and retarding in a measure the progress of decay. Ladies in delicate health, as well as aged persons, derive great benefit from this wholesome stimulative tonic, which is absolutely pure, unobjectionable in flavor, and is recommended by physicians of repute.

SORE LEGS, varicose veins and ulcers, serous discharge, desquamation of the cuticle, are all cured by GILE'S LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA. Pescud, Lee & Co., Druggists.

The Virginia Conference M. E. Church South appropriates $7,100 for missionary purposes for 1877-'78.

Miss Emma Abbott, the favorite American prima donna, and her popular concert company will make a tour through the South in February.

In the case of the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Railroad Company against the English bondholders, in the United States Circuit Court, at Norfolk last week, the counsel for the bond holders made no motion for a foreclosure of the mortgage.

The Governors of Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi and Ohio have united in a call for a convention of people of the Tennessee Valley in Chattanooga, Dec. 5, to take measures to urge upon Congress an appropriation for the improvement of the Tennessee River.

Richmond correspondent Petersburg [illegible] is believed that Rev. [illegible], who has the reputation of being a splendid pulpit orator, will be appointed Bishop of the Richmond diocese in place of Archbishop Gibbons. This is not official—but my sources of information, I regard, as reliable.

While James Johnson and S. T. Stewart were standing for deer last Friday, on Shaw's Fork, Highland county, Va., Mr. Stewart was fatally shot by Mr. Johnson, and died on Saturday. Johnson seeing the leather shot bag on Stewart's person through the brush, thought it was a deer and fired, the ball penetrating the body of Stewart, resulting as above stated.

Randolph Macon College has now 126 students. 18 of these are students of the ministry, and 14 are sons of ministers. The income of the college from the fees and collections is nearly equal to its expenses. A $23,000 debt hangs over it. These facts are gathered from a report to the Virginia M. E. Conference now in session in Lynchburg.

STATE NEWS.

Steps are about to be taken to erect a Methodist Protestant house of worship at Greensboro, and a committee has been appointed to consider the subject.

A correspondent of the Pee Dee Bee says: The commuting of the punishment of Allen Carter to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary seems to meet with general approbation.

On Saturday morning Judge Kerr passed sentence of death on Dick Smith for the murder of Sam Ross last January. He was sentenced to be hung on the 14th of December.

Concord Sun: A report reaches us that Kinney Cross was drowned yesterday while trying to cross Rocky river, it being swollen by the recent rains. The report lacks confirmation.

Concord Sun: A patent was issued from the U. S. Patent Office on the 14th inst., to John L. Jones, of Greensboro, for a plug tobacco pressing machine. This is four patents granted to North Carolina inventors.

We learn from the Asheville Pioneer that A. T. Summ[illegible], has been appointed United States Commissioner at Asheville, and that H. C. Edney and W. A. Patterson have been commissioned Deputy Marshals by Marshal Douglas.

Blue Ridge Blade: Our Upper Creek correspondent says: "There are four fathers in Upper Creek township who have thirty single daughters—many of them marriageable and good looking." What township in the State can beat it?

Pee Dee Bee: It is proposed that collections be taken up on the 29th, Thanksgiving day, for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord."
"That man may last, but never lives,
Who much receives, but nothing gives."

The jury of the Superior Court of Mecklenburg county, as we learn from the Observer, in the case of Rufe Lowrance, tried for the murder of Dock Hunsucker, brought in a verdict of "guilty" on Saturday morning, after being out from 6 o'clock Friday even[illegible].

Mayor Brown, of Concord, had the manager of the circus that exhibited there last week arrested for non-payment of $25.00 corporation tax. We learn from the Sun that the tax was resisted on the ground that the exhibition was outside the corporate limits, but the Mayor claimed jurisdiction within a certain radius, and the tax had to be paid before the circus could leave.

Asheville Citizen: Droves of hogs from Tennessee are passing through here daily. They command 6 cents per pound on the hoof.

Statesville American: At the late term of the Superior Court for this county, two issues were tried, involving the existence of the Bank of Statesville as a corporation, both of which were decided adversely by Judge Cloud, and appeals taken. The ruling was that the Bank and its assets was part and parcel of Mr. Simonton's estate, the provisions of the charter never having been complied with to make it an incorporation.

Hendersonville Courier: We are pained to hear of the drowning of Mr. Geo. Weaver's little daughter in Mill Creek, near Columbus, Polk county, last week. The little creature, only twenty months of age, had wandered from the house, and in her efforts to cross a creek near the house, fell in and was drowned. Shortly after leaving the house she was missed, and her father and uncle commenced a search for her. The little lifeless body was found in a drift, two hundred and fifty yards below the log that she had attempted to cross. Dr. J. G. Waldrop was at once called in, but life was extinct. It was a sad occurrence and a terrible blow to the young parents.

THE GREAT FLOOD.

The disastrous deluge which we chronicle this morning extends over a vast area. The rivers flooded are, so far as heard from at the time of this writing, the Potomac on the north, and the Cape Fear on the south, and all the intermediate streams—the Neuse, Roanoke, Dan, Staunton, Appomattox, James, Rivanna and Shenandoah, and their numerous tributaries of great and small degree. The sources of all these rivers, it will be observed, head up towards central Virginia—showing that the storm-centre rested on the Alleghanies in West Virginia, and extended thence in a northerly and southerly direction. The main water shed of the Alleghany and the Blue Ridge mountains slopes towards the Atlantic ocean and all the streams flowing thence were crossed by the storm, and so flooded. The Potomac river was higher than it has been at any time since 1852. At Washington it stood five feet above the wharf level. The freshet was immense in the Shenandoah and Rivanna. The James reached a higher mark than in the flood of September 30th, 1870, the greatest ever known in Virginia. The Dan was never so swollen. The Roanoke yesterday evening was six feet higher at Weldon than it has ever before been known to be by any man living. The Cape Fear rose seventy-five feet—nearly as high as "the Sherman flood" of 1865.

These facts give some idea of the magnitude of the freshet, in comparison with similar visitations in past years.

The destruction of property is immense. So far we have only heard of the devastations along the lines of railway and at the cities and towns. The country is yet to hear from. Immense loss must have befallen the farmers. A large proportion of the corn and cotton crop is still ungathered, and incalculable damage no doubt has been wrought the afflicted scope of country.

The Railroads are the greatest sufferers. Many valuable bridges and trestles have been swept away by the raging waters. Only the Virginia railroads suffer to any noteworthy extent. The Raleigh and Gaston, Wilmington and Weldon, North Carolina, Raleigh and Augusta Air Line, the Atlantic and North Carolina, and the Western North Carolina Railroads fortunately have escaped damage.

We present elsewhere such details of the devastating work of the waters as we were able to obtain on yesterday. The interruption of the mails and telegraph prevented our obtaining more complete accounts. Enough however is given to present an appalling picture of wreck and ruin.

THE SOLID SOUTH AND THE EASTERN STATES.

An analysis of the vote on the passage of the Repeal bill shows the following result:

	Yeas.		Nays.
	Dem.	Rep.	Dem.	Rep.
Alabama	8	0	0	0
Arkansas	3	0	0	0
California	0	0	1	3
Connecticut	1	0	2	1
Florida	1	0	0	1
Georgia	6	0	0	0
Illinois	7	5	1	6
Indiana	3	7	0	0
Iowa	0	2	0	6
Kansas	0	3	0	0
Kentucky	10	0	0	0
Louisiana	2	0	1	1
Maine	0	0	0	4
Maryland	4	0	1	0
Massachusetts	0	0	1	8
Michigan	0	0	1	8
Minnesota		0	0	2
Mississippi	5	.	.	.
Missouri	9	.	2	2
Nebraska		.	0	1
Nevada		.	0	1
New-Hampshire		.	1	2
New-Jersey	0	0	4	3
New-York	0	0	12	13
North Carolina	7	1	0	0
Ohio	7	3	0	7
Oregon	0	0	0	1
Pennsylvania	7	6	1	9
Rhode Island	0	0	0	2
South Carolina	1	0	0	2
Tennessee	7	0	1	1
Texas	5	0	1	0
Vermont	0	0	0	3
Virginia	8	0	0	1
West Virginia	3	0	0	0
Wisconsin	1	1	0	2

It appears from the above that 28 Republicans voted with 105 Democrats for the passage of the bill, and that 30 Democrats voted with 90 Republicans against it.

The North Carolina delegation voted solidly in favor of the repeal. Even "the child of the skies" cast his vote in the affirmative. He was the only Southern Republican who voted for the bill.

An analysis of the vote of the Southern representatives shows that of the whole number of votes cast by this section, 81, there were 71 in the affirmative and 10 in the negative; showing remarkable solidity. Of the nays, 4 were democratic and 6 were republican.

Of the 133 yeas, 71 were from "the solid South," which was good enough, outweighing the negative strength of the Eastern States (New York, New Jersey and New England—56 votes in all) by a majority of 15 votes. Only one vote from that section, that of a democrat from Connecticut, was cast for the bill.

The result of this great money fight in the House shows how strong the South is, and how easy it can control the Union with the help of the Western States or a few of the Middle. The Eastern States (New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine) can no longer rule this country against the will of the Southern States (Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky.)

The sceptre of power has departed from the grasp of selfish New England; and the money power centred in New York can no longer usurp and hold the powers of the people over the general government. This is among the first blessed fruits of Democratic ascendancy.

EDITORS are not proverbial for piety. There are reasons for this. The world knows little of the taxes on editorial faith, experienced in the daily life of every journalist. Rev. Mr. Talmage touches upon this subject in his own original way. The following extract from a recent sermon of his, contains a great deal of truth. "One of the greatest trials of the newspaper profession is that its members are compelled to see more of the shame of the world than any other profession. Through every newspaper office, day after day, go all the weaknesses of the world; all the vanities that want to be puffed; all the mistakes that want to be corrected; all the dull speakers who want to be thought eloquent; all the meanness that wants to get its wares noticed gratis in the editorial column, in order to save the tax in the advertising columns; all the men who want to be set right who were never right; all the crack-brained philosophers with stories as long as their hair, and as gloomy as their finger nails in mourning because bereft of soap; all the bores who come to stay five minutes, but talk five hours. Through the editorial and reportorial rooms all the follies and shames of the world are seen, day after day; and the temptation is to believe in neither God, man, nor woman. It is no surprise to me that in this profession there are some skeptical men; I only wonder that journalists believe anything."

THE New York Herald, commenting on the Fishing Creek railroad disaster says, "The lesson of the disaster is, of course, an obvious one. As long as railroads will build death traps like this one at Fishing Creek and people are forced to travel over them horrors like this we are called upon to chronicle today will occur. The only wonder is that they are not more frequent. In these columns we have again and again urged that the laws on the subject, if [illegible] that railroads should not be allowed to run trains over structures which it is a mockery to call bridges. It is safe to say that there are hundreds and hundreds of these pitfalls scattered all over the country. In view of the neglect of the States to deal properly with the question and provide for the safety of travellers Congress ought by some general legislation to see that life is not placed in such constant and unnecessary peril."

MR. A. V. DOCKERY, United States consul at Leeds, England, has written a letter to the Anglo-American Times, in which he gives his views about North Carolina, and incidentally about Virginia and South Carolina, which three States he classes together. He bases his remarks on his actual experience during sixteen years' residence in this State. He argues that these States present extraordinary inducements for the class of immigrants which they most need—small farmers, with money enough to establish themselves comfortably. The dissemination in England of accurate knowledge about our State would no doubt eventually lead to an immigration movement this way. Mr. Dockery can be of more service to his native land than "the Prince of the Pee Dee," by devoting his leisure time to talking up the Old North State among "them blarsted Henglishmen."

GEN. R. B. VANCE, ever on the alert for the interests of the South in general and North Carolina in particular, has introduced a bill to increase and regulate the mail service between Washington City and the following-named cities: Richmond, Virginia; Raleigh and Charlotte, North Carolina; Charleston, South Carolina; Atlanta, Georgia; Mobile, Alabama; Memphis, Tennessee; Little Rock, Arkansas; New Orleans, Louisiana; Galveston, Texas, and other points south.

AMONG the disasters chronicled this morning, one of the saddest is the drowning of two young men in Clarke's creek, near Lincolnton. They rashly ventured across a swollen stream, the boat capsized, and two out of its three occupants found watery graves in the surging flood.

THE November term of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of North Carolina began yesterday, His Honor, Judge G. W. Brooks, presiding. There are no cases of general public importance to be tried, on either the civil or criminal side of the docket.

THE General Missionary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, North, have fixed $675,550 as the amount of missionary money to be raised by each conference during the coming year. North Carolina is set down for $400.

SHOULD the Repeal Act pass the Senate, it is asserted by those who claim to know, that the President will undoubtedly veto the bill.

IN view of the revival interest in gold mining in the Mecklenburg section of this State, we are glad to see that a bill has been introduced in Congress by Gen Vance to re-establish the branch mint of the United States at Charlotte.

THE loss of the United States Man-of-War, Huron, is one of the most appalling disasters that ever occurred on our coast. Not less than one hundred and thirty lives were lost out of a crew of about 164 souls.

ONE of the singular results of the silver circulation is a decrease in church collections. Five cent nickels take the place of ten cent shinplasters and shillings are substituted for greenback quarters.

IT'S an ill wind that blows no good. Bridge builders may now exultingly sing, "What shall the harvest be?"

THE great floods will put a wet blanket on Thanksgiving Day in some parts of the earth.

An Open Letter to the Public.
NEW YORK, October 1, 1877.
I have devoted twenty years of patient study to the Liver and its relations to the human body, in search of a remedy which would restore it, when diseased, to its normal condition. The result of that labor has been the production of TUTTT'S LIVER PILLS.
Their popularity has become so extended and the demand so great as to induce unscrupulous parties to counterfeit them, thereby ROBBING ME of the reward, and the afflicted of their virtues.
To Caution the Public and protect them from vile impositions, have adopted a new label, which bears my trade-mark and notice of its entry in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, also my signature, thus:
W. H. Tutt M. D.
☞ TO COUNT REFEIT THIS IS FORGERY. ☜
Before purchasing, examine the label closely.
THE GENUINE TUTT'S PILLS
exert a peculiar influence on the system. Their action is prompt, and their good effects are felt in a few hours. A quarter of a century of the study of the Liver has demonstrated that it exerts a greater influence over the system than any other organ of the body, and when diseased the entire organism is deranged. It is specially for the healing of this vital organ that I have spent so many years of toil, and having found the remedy, which has proved the greatest boon ever furnished the afflicted. Shall they be deprived of its benefits, and a vile imitation imposed upon them?
Let the honest people of America see to it that they are not defrauded. Scrutinize the label closely, see that it bears all the marks above mentioned, and buy the medicine only from respectable dealers. It can be found everywhere. Very respectfully,
W. H. TUTT.

The Earl of Derby to R. E. Lee.

[From the Charleston News and Courier.]

The following lines were written by the late Earl of Derby, on the fly-leaf of a copy of his translation of the Iliad, presented by him to General R. E. Lee. They are a touching evidence of sympathy and appreciation on the part of the scholarly nobleman who was aptly styled "the Rupert of debate." The Euparts of the nineteenth century were, in spirit at least, ranged on the side of the South:

The grave old bard who never dies,
Receive him in our native tongue;
I send thee, but with weeping eyes,
The story that he sung.

Thy Troy has fallen—thy dear land
Is marred beneath the spoiler's heel;
I cannot trust my trembling hand
To write the grief I feel.

Oh, home of tears! But let her bear
This blazon to the end of time;
No nation rose so white and fair,
None fell so pure of crime.

The widow's moan, the orphan's wail,
Are round thee: but in truth be strong;
Eternal right though all things fail,
Can never be made wrong.

An angel's heart, an angel's mouth,
(Not Homer's) could alone for me
Hymn forth the great Confederate South;
Virginia first—then Lee.

GENERAL NOTES.

Senator David Davis is said to be one of the most popular men in Congress. He is a teller of stories, and is sought for at dinner parties.

Miss Florence Adele Vanderbilt, who was married a few days ago, received as wedding present from her father it is said "a diamond necklace worth $50,000."

An Albany lawyer who wanted a postponement, appealed to the Judge to "let the broad axe of justice be swung by the hand of mercy." It was swung.

The Judge of the Superior Criminal Court, Boston, charged the jury that it required proof of the voluntary use of intoxicating liquors to convict of drunkenness.

Under the dreadful process of a general shrinkage in values, which is now going on, there has been a depreciation in the value of real estate in Philadelphia of $50,000,000 since the assessment of 1876. The present taxable value of such property, however, remains at the handsome total of $587,000,000, which, with economy, ought to keep the Philadelphians comfortable for several years.

Gen. Jubal A. Early says: "I have had experience enough in life to learn that the propensity for 'taking chances' is so deeply ingrained into all human nature that men and women alike, including some members of the Church, and occasionally a minister, will buy lottery tickets, and when they cannot get them in lotteries fairly conducted they will take their chances in fraudulent gift enterprises and bogus lotteries when they have no possible show for their money.

On the dread morning when Sioux City, Iowa, was shaken by an earthquake, a jury was locked up in one of the rooms of the Court House. The members were exceedingly disputatious. "I won't agree to any such verdict till hell comes!" exclaimed an obstinate member. In the twinkling of an eye came—not hell, but perhaps the next thing to it—an earthquake. The jury was under lock and key, and it was sometime before the bailiff passed by and heard the raps upon the door. "We've a-g-r-r-r-r-e-e-d!" exclaimed the foreman, with the air of a man who had seen a ghost with a bandaged jaw.

The scheme for telegraphing without wires, by means of aerial currents of electricity, has been revived by Professor Loomis. He has met with success in using kites for this purpose, a copper wire being substituted for the usual kite string. Signals were transmitted thus between kites ten miles apart. His new experiments are made in the mountainous regions of West Virginia, between lofty peaks. Continuous aerial currents are found at these altitudes, which will serve the purposes of the telegraph, except when rarely interrupted by violent disturbances of the atmosphere. A scheme is now on foot to test the merits of aerial telegraphy in the Alps. The cheapness of the apparatus, as no wire is required between the stations, is greatly in favor of the method, and may counter-balance its liability to occasional interruption.—N. Y. Tribune.

Peroration of Ewing's Great Speech on the Repeal of the Resumption Act.

[From the Congressional Record, Nov. 23.]

I have not time, Mr. Speaker, to reply to all the arguments upon the other side, or to sound a tenth part of the depths and shoals of this subject which is as boundless as the sea. No greater question was ever presented to an American Congress for its action. It touches the prosperity, the happiness, the future, of three-fourths of the men, women, and children of this land. Countless homes have already been desolated by this robber law. Thousands of men have been driven by it to insanity or suicide. Hundreds of thousands have been cast down from competence to poverty. Millions have been deprived of that employment for their labor on which rest the hope and dependence of their families. It is now too late to right these wrongs, but we may avert greater evils from the most of these victims and from millions more by the prompt action of Congress and the President.

I do not appeal to that money power which seeks its own aggrandizement over the wrecked fortunes of the unwary multitude—a power to which our unhappy civil war gave birth, which has grown so enormous through unjust finance legislation, and now "bestrides this narrow world like a colossus;" which subsidizes the press, the great organ of public opinion; which captures statesmen and parties, and makes them its subservient tools; which villifies and seeks to crush every public man who dare raise his voice against it. That power, in the flush and arrogance of its enormous and ill-gotten gains, has a heart of stone not to be touched by human sympathy or compassion. I appeal to the masses; to their faithful Representatives of both parties on this floor; to all who think that the true aim of government is the greatest good of the greatest number; who believe there is a faith due to the people as well as to the holders of public securities; and that whoever by covert legislation changes the value of contracts is as accursed as he who moves his neighbor's land-marks.

For twelve years past the finance policy of this country has been dictated, in Lombard street or Wall street, and the people have been plundered by every fresh enactment. They have suffered the fate of the giant Gulliver tied down by the Lilliputians. Thank God, they are now about to arise, to burst the bonds their petty foes have fastened on them sleeping, and to walk abroad again in their own majesty. [Great applause.]

This Premium at Roanoke & Tar River Agricultural Society, 1876. The Gold Medal, over all other Competitors, at the North Carolina State Fair, in 1876.

It is the most perfect and economical in use. The Boiler is of new design, being vertical, yet all the heating surface is entirely covered with water, thus preventing the fire from destroying the tubes as is the case, in a few years, in all upright tubular boilers in which the fire passes through the tubes above the water line, soon destroying the exposed end of the tubes causing them to leak.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Don't forget the special meeting of Raleigh Chapter, No. 10, Royal Arch Masons, to-night at 7 o'clock, for the election of officers.

——All purchasers of City lots sold a few days since by the State Commissioners, are requested to call at the office of the State Treasurer, where they can obtain their receipts.

——A dispatch from Maj. J. W. Wilson, President of the Western North Carolina Railroad, says the bridges on his road are all safe and that the trains are running on it on schedule time.

——Drummers' licenses were issued to the following parties at the Treasurer's office yesterday: Wiley, Smith & Co., and Findley, Roberts & Co., of Baltimore, and Charles F. McKenzie, New York.

——Rev. Mr. Marable preached an able sermon at the First Presbyterian Church to a large audience last Sunday night, and a fine impression was made. He will preach there every night this week.

——George W. Wynne & Co. have just received a car load of horses and mules, which they offer for sale at very low prices. There are several good pairs among them, and a number of first-class single harness horses; also, some excellent farm stock.

——Remember Judge Watts will deliver his lecture on Entomology, that was postponed from last Friday night, at Metropolitan Hall, this evening at 7 o'clock. It will be exceedingly interesting, and the Judge will donate the net proceeds to the Raleigh Graded School.

——The flood in the Roanoke at Gaston is said to be five feet higher than ever known before, and is several feet deep in the old hotel on the north side of the river. Several persons living in the hotel had gone up on the second floor, one of them taking his ox and cart up with him.

Wake County Criminal Court.

MONDAY, Nov. 26, 1877.

The Court met at 10 o'clock, His Honor Judge Strong on the Bench.

The following cases were heard and disposed of as indicated:

State vs. Albert Copeland, assault and battery, verdict, not guilty.

State vs. Ben Jones, larceny, verdict guilty, judgement 18 months in State prison.

State vs. John Burton, larceny and receiving, verdict, guilty. Judgment, 5 years in the State prison.

Ephraim Adams, convicted of larceny on Saturday, was sentenced to 18 months in the State prison.

States vs. Govan Eaton and Charles Laws, assault and battery.

State vs. John Brown, larceny.

In each the two last mentioned cases the jury was out at a late hour and had not agreed on a verdict.

Meeting of the Board of the D. & D. Institute.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind Institution, held last night, all the members of the Board being present, the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, That the claims against John Nichols, Esq., be placed into the hands of Hon. D. G. Fowle, with instruction to collect the same."

In answer to a statement which appeared in the papers of a recent date, they make the following statement, and order the same to be spread upon the minutes:

"During the summer vacation, while the pupils were at their respective homes, Mr. Gudger, the Principal, had the permission of the Board to visit his old home, and being a salaried officer by the year, was entitled to pay for the whole year, including the vacation."

Bridges of Neuse.

We learn from parties who returned late yesterday evening from the country, that the bridge at the Falls of Neuse, and also the bridge known as Powell's, near Dunnsville, are safe, though greatly imperiled. The Rogers bridge, near the Oil Mills, on the Louisburg road, had the three middle spans washed away, leaving the abutment and one span at each end standing. Great efforts were made to save this bridge, but unavailing. We are glad to learn that the oil mill is safe, but the water flooded the grist, saw and oil mills from two to four feet deep.

The fragments of Rogers' bridge had floated on down to the railroad bridge across the Neuse, but Capt. Andrews went down with a squad of hands and expected to prevent serious accident.

Corn and cotton crops along the Neuse have been very seriously damaged and much fodder, fencing and other things floated off.

The "Sociable" This Evening.

Don't fail to be present at the "Sociable" to be given at the residence of Messrs. Kingsley and Ashley (near the Peace Institute) this evening, by the ladies of the congregation of the second Presbyterian Church. The admission is free and the very best of things edible will be provided. All that can make an evening pass in an agreeable and enjoyable manner will be found at this sociable. The ladies are prepared to furnish all visitors with an abundance of both substantials and delicacies at very moderate charges. The proceeds are intended to be applied toward the erection of a church edifice.

Personal.

Mrs. T. Roberts Baker, son and nurse, of Richmond, Va., are registered at the National Hotel.

J. W. Norwood, Esq., of Hillsboro is registered at the Yarbrough.

Petrified Wood.

Mr. Riddle, at the office of the Register of Deeds, showed us yesterday, two specimens of petrified wood one taken from a log in Gulley Swamp in Panther Branch township in this county. It seems to be a petrifaction of hickory and has distinct marks of the bark and heart of the log from which it was formed. The other specimen was taken from a large petrified log that has long been known to exist, on the lot of Mrs. Karrer in this city, in rear of the new U. S. Court House. This specimen is of finer grains than the other, and it is difficult to determine the species of wood from which it was formed.

Trial of John Morgan:

The only matter before the Mayor's Court yesterday morning was the investigation of the case of John Morgan, charged with felonious shooting of Obadiah Holland and Syd. Dunston, on Saturday night. Holland, it seems had taken himself off and when wanted to testify could not be found. Other witnesses, however, appeared and although their evidence in some respects did not fully correspond in some minor particulars, His Honor considered it sufficiently strong to justify him in holding the accused in a bond of $500 to await the investigation of the grand jury.

Mooningham Nearly Drowned.

Information was received in the city yesterday that the man, Mooningham, acquitted here last Saurday of the charge of murdering Harry Seawell, came near being drowned on returning home on Saturday night. He walked over the Neuse river bridge to the further end and, the abutment being gone, he stepped off into the river. He floated down the river and caught hold of a tree, where he stayed until Sunday morning 8 o'clock, when he was rescued by a Mr. Liles. When rescued he was completely exhausted and was lying insensible up to 10 o'clock yesterday.

United States Circuit Court.

This court opened at Metropolitan Hall yesterday at 12 M., His Honor, U. S. District Judge George W. Brooks, presiding.

R. C. Badger, Esq., recently re-appointed District Attorney for the Eastern district of North Carolina, appeared before the Court, exhibited his commission and was qualified by taking the oath prescribed by law. The jury will be called to-day and the Court will proceed with the business on the docket, taking up the criminal docket first.

A Profitable Sow.

Mr. T. L. Beacham, the man that beat the State in prolific corn this year, has a sow that gave birth to a litter of 13 pigs last week. They were such fine looking suckers that he concluded to weigh them, and found that the 13 pigs weighed 52 pounds—averaging 4 pounds each. We should call this a fine prospect for pork next killing time.

THE WILMINGTON JOURNAL

The publication of the WILMINGTON JOURNAL will be resumed in the city of Wilmington, the initial number to be issued on the first Thursday in December.

As has always heretofore been the case with this staunch old weekly, the JOURNAL in politics will represent none but the soundest and truest Democratic principles, faithful to the traditions of that party, steady to its present principles and unforgetful of the great fraud by virtue of which a Republican administration assumes the duties of the position fairly won by the Democratic party.

Our market reports will be a prominet part of the paper and will present the most valuable points of transactions up to the very hour of going to press, while especial care and attention will be paid to the editorial, news and miscellaneous departments.

One of the most prominent features of the paper will be its agricultural department, and on this, which will be placed in the hands of a gentleman well qualified to man age it, experience as well as care will be brought to bear.

The WILMINGTON JOURNAL will be published from the office of the Daily Review every Thursday afternoon at $1.50 a year.

FIRST DOSE

ON A BOSTON POLICE OFFICER.

BOSTON, Nov. 15, 1871.

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—In the spring of 1869 I was stricken down with fever, which had a long and almost hopeless run. The best medical advice being in attendance, I was taken through the fever; but it left me terribly reduced and weak, with excruciating pains in my side, back and hips. I was completely prostrated with Kidney Complaint, and no medicine seemed to reach my case.

In this condition I was persuaded to try VEGETINE by a friend whom it cured of the same disease, and it seemed as though I could feel the effects of the first dose through my whole system; and from that moment I began to mend, gradually growing better from day to day; and I followed on with the VEGETINE, until it completely restored me to health, since which time I have been able to perform my duties as a police officer, enjoying good health; and there is no doubt about the great value of VEGETINE in Kidney Complaint and similar diseases.

I am, sir, respectfully,
LAFAYETTE FORD, 564 Broadway.

All Diseases of the Blood.

If VEGETINE will relieve pain, cleanse, purify and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

Seventy-one Years of Age.

EAST MARSHFIELD, Aug. 22, 1870.

MR. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I am seventy-one years of age; have suffered many years with Kidney Complaint, weakness in my back and stomach. I was induced by friends to try your VEGETINE, and I think it the best medicine for weakness of the kidneys I ever used. I have tried many remedies for this complaint, and never found much relief as from the VEGETINE. It strengthens and invigorates the whole system. Many of my acquaintances have taken it, and I believe it to be good for all the complaints for which it is recommended.

Yours truly, JOSIAH H. SHERMAN.

Would Give a Dollar for a Dose.

BOSTON, May 30, 1871.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—I have been badly afflicted with Kidney Complaint for ten years; have suffered great pain in my back, hips and side, with great difficulty in passing urine, which was often and in very small quantities, frequently accompanied with blood and excruciating pain. I have faithfully tried most of the popular remedies recommended for my complaint; I have been under the treatment of some of the most skilful physicians in Boston, all of whom pronounced my case incurable. This was my condition when I was advised by a friend to try the VEGETINE, and I could see the good effects from the first dose I took, and from that moment I kept on improving until I was entirely cured, taking in all, I should think, about six bottles.

It is indeed a valuable medicine, and if I should be afflicted again in the same way I would give a dollar for a dose, if I could not get it without.

Respectfully, J. M. GILE,
361 Third St., South Boston.

Life a Burden.

BOSTON, Nov. 2, 1873.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—From a poor, emaciated sufferer, the VEGETINE has restored me to perfect health.

I have for years been a terrible sufferer from Canker and Dyspepsia, at times rendering life almost a burden to me. I am now fifteen (15) pounds heavier than when I commenced the use of VEGETINE.

I will make mention that I was also a great sufferer from Kidney Complaint, causing excruciating pain through the small of the back nearly all of the time. This, too, VEGETINE has cured, and I am now a perfect picture of health, and I will add, happiness—all caused from the use of a few bottles of VEGETINE.

Respectfully, H. G. HUGHES,
1 Union place, Boston, Mass.

VEGETINE is composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it.
